 - Growth Arc: Learns that faith without action is hollow, and that meaning must be lived, not merely believed

Trauma & Core Wound (Ghost)

Jaxxon's defining loss is not a single event, but a collapse.

Between 2153 and 2158, Jaxxon lost his entire immediate family to the TMVid48 pandemic and the subsequent systemic decay that followed. Watching institutions fail completely shattered his belief in human stewardship.

In the aftermath, Jaxxon nearly abandoned his faith turning instead to inherited wealth to buy influence, access, and temporary certainty. The compromise almost consumed him. Recognising the moral cost, he withdrew before it hardened into cynicism.

This loss permanently marked him: grief sharpened into resolve, and faith returned—not as comfort, but as responsibility.

Family Background & Legacy

Parents

- Luke Robinson — Entrepreneur (deceased, pandemic era)
- Sarah Western (Robinson) — Deceased

Ancestral Lineage

- Matthew Robinson — Patriarch of the Robinson Estate
- Michael & Veronica Robinson
- Jason Robinson (10 Sep 1998 – disappeared 2053)
 - Never married after Angela Cartwright
 - Presumed abducted by the Christopher Phillips organisation
 - Central to the long-hidden cryonic legacy

Jason Robinson's love for Angela Cartwright and his role in her preservation form the moral spine of the Robinson family's concealed history.

Childhood & the Forgotten Memory

Jaxxon grew up within the Robinson Estate—an environment of privilege, technological abundance, and deliberate silence.

As a young child, he once followed Andy, the illegally humanoid bot, into the restricted wing behind the armoury. He recalls the event only in fragments:

- A door that should not have existed
- Dim light
- A soft, red-haired silhouette
- A feeling of intrusion rather than fear

The memory faded and displaced itself onto a portrait of a long-dead red-haired relative hanging in a quiet wing of the estate. For years, Jaxxon felt inexplicably drawn to it, never understanding why.

The sealed chamber behind the armoury—and its occupant—were known only to Andy and MAVIS, the estate AI. No human ever held the access keys.

Education & Professional Development

Rejecting entitlement, Jaxxon chose engineering as a means of escape rather than extension of family influence.

- Specialised in fusion drive mechanics and orbital logistics
- Rose steadily within the Deep Space Programme
- Became indispensable to the Galileo Programme by his early thirties

His reputation: precise, reliable, incorruptible. His position: secure, powerful and deliberately understated.

He could have remained insulated indefinitely.

Catalyst Event: The Trio's Arrival

Everything changed the day Maryanne Kendricks and Dr Michelle Brown arrived at the DSP facility.

During discussions involving a polymer microdot recovered from Maryanne's arm, something dormant stirred. Not understanding why, Jaxxon experienced a vague emotional recall, an echo of the portrait, the childhood fragment.

When the group later returned to the Robinson Estate:

- Dormant automated routines activated
- Hidden logs surfaced referencing sealed environments and restricted custody protocols
- Andy confirmed long-running digital processes.

Andy had anticipated their arrival, directing them to the portrait. Piece by piece, Jaxxon understood that his home had been guarding a secret for decades.

The Realisation

Jaxxon did not confront Maryanne. He did not speak of the fuzzy memory in the back of his mind but felt the connection to her, the red haired woman he had seen as a child.

Instead, he lead them, quietly to the family archives, where they began to investigate, and uncovered the truth:

- The connection to Jason Robinson
- His relationship with Angela Cartwright, the woman who would be reanimated as Maryanne Kendricks
- The connection to another alias Staphanie Brewster, named from the back of the portrait

From that point on, Jaxxon recognised his role was not optional. She was to be his fate.

Role in the Story

Jaxxon Robinson is the infrastructural spine of the trio.

- Where Michelle Brown leads through intellect and authority

- Where Maryanne Kendricks embodies sacrifice and renewal

Jaxxon enables survival.

He manipulates orbital schedules, reroutes biometric authorisations, secures off-world passage, and turns fusion drives into escape corridors. His rebellion is quiet, surgical, and relentless.

He is the anchor when exhaustion sets in, the constant when fear tightens and the corridor through which resistance moves.

Motivation

- Surface Motivation: Protect Maryanne
 - Deeper Motivation: Reclaim belief in humanity through action

Goal

Assist Michelle Brown in uncovering the truth behind the nanites and ensure Maryanne's survival, physically, ethically, and symbolically.

Hidden Agenda

Investigate the Robinson family's historic entanglement with:

- SOLaR Systems
- Cryonic custodial protocols
- The legacy of Jason Robinson and Angela Cartwright

Jaxxon seeks not absolution, but understanding.

Epiphany

Faith without action is hollow. Love, sacrifice, and truth are not ideals to be admired but practices that must be lived, especially when they cost something.

Narrative Function

In Cryonic Dreams, Jaxxon Robinson is the architect of escape—the man who turned fusion into freedom, privilege into responsibility, and silence into action.

He is not loud.

He does not demand belief.

He builds the path that makes belief survivable.
