

The Cryonic Dreams Philosophical Charter

This charter distills the core principles, warnings, and calls to action from a series of essays which later became a novel, “Collapse or Renewal: The Soul and the Human Horizon” by John R Carlos and the narrative universe of Cryonic Dreams, something readers can reference, share, or adopt as a guiding framework.

Foundational Truths

1. Truth is objective and discoverable.

It is not constructed by power or consensus. It exists independently and must be pursued through reason, faith, and empirical inquiry.

2. Faith is epistemological.

It is not blind belief, it is the architecture of meaning. Faith provides moral clarity, coherence, and resilience in the face of nihilism.

3. Identity is inherited, not invented.

Our cultural, familial, and national identities are not oppressive, they are the vessels of continuity and belonging.

4. History is sacred memory.

The past must be remembered, not erased. Civilizations that forget their story lose their soul.

5. Civilization requires moral architecture.

Without shared values, societies fragment into tribalism, impulse, and authoritarian control.

Philosophical Warnings

6. Postmodernism is a civilizational toxin.

It dismantles truth, erodes identity, and replaces meaning with performance. It is not liberation, it is collapse.

7. Relativism leads to nihilism.

When all values are equal, none are meaningful. Moral clarity vanishes, and despair becomes the norm.

8. Technocracy without virtue becomes tyranny.

Surveillance, control, and algorithmic governance must be restrained by moral law and human dignity.

9. Authoritarian convergence is real.

Postmodern ideologues and civilizational authoritarians share a goal: the dismantling of Western identity.

10. The soul remembers.

Even in a world of amnesia, the human spirit longs for coherence, truth, and redemption.

Call to Action

11. Reclaim truth.

Resist relativism. Defend objective reality. Speak clearly and courageously.

12. Restore identity.

Honor your heritage. Defend your culture. Protect the continuity of meaning.

13. Revive faith.

Whether in God, in purpose, or in moral law, choose light over darkness.

14. Resist collapse.

Do not surrender to chaos. Build communities of coherence, courage, and conviction.

15. Live in the light.

The future is not yet written. Choose hope. Choose meaning. Choose life.
